I should have talked to you folks before I got myself into this mess, but I am hoping you could help me.

I wanted to hire my Thai wife's brother into my construction company. I tried to do the LMO myself, so I posted a job on Job Bank and Kijiji and made the qualifications as strict as possible and kept the salary as low as possible to discourage Canadian applicants. But I ended up getting 100s of resumes!

Summer construction season is here and I need to get him down right away, so I don't think I have time to post another job advertisement. Do you think you could help me get an LMO even though I have 100s of Canadians wanting that job?

I am willing to pay top dollar if you can help me out here.

Jimmy

Hello

We would be pleased to try to help, but it will likely take awhile.

Let me know when the best time to talk would be.

Yours truly

Alex Stojicevic
